TWO Tars, who knew and cherished the noble principles of Friendship, chanced to be on board the Sandwich 90 gun-ship, at the relief of Gibraltar, under the command of Lord Howe; one of them being killed, was carried on shore to be buried; his constant friend attended him to this last stage of human action: when the body was laid in the grave, the survivor, struggling with all those manly feelings that ornament the soul of a brave and honest man, articulated this short and fervent prayer in the presence of sundry Noblemen and other officers of the Garrison; "O Lord God Almighty! here lies as good a Sailor as ever slept on shipboard; give him, O God! a birth in the Main Top in Heaven, a smooth Sea, and full Allowance, for Jesus' sake."

The Names and Characters of the Twelve Signs.

Odd RESEMBLANCE of two BROTHERS.

TWO brothers, who lived together, resembled each other extremely, and bore the same name. A man desired to speak to one of them. Which do you ask for said the porter. Then him that squints a little, said the man. They both squint, answered the porter. Him that hath a handsome wife. Both their wives are handsome, returned the porter. Well then, he who is a cuckold, said the man. By my faith, sir, answered the porter, I take them both to be cuckold. Well, said the man, these two brothers are strangely fared so to resemble one another.

FRUITS of MATRIMONY.

A Poor woman, whose name is Nicholds, the wife of a shoemaker in Westminster, was lately delivered of two children. It is remarkable that she, about twelve months ago, was delivered of three children.
